CITY MARKET COMMISSION MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Two Markets to Open Thursday Morning With Fish—Plows at Work

The Municipal Food Commission met at the office of Executive Co. last evening to hear reports from the various department directors.

Planting Commissioner Duff reported that teams were plowing the Nicholl land opposite the high school and that it would be harrowed and ready for planting the middle of this week. In this connection Seed Commissioner Nosiglia reported that he had purchased five sacks of potatoes from the Elks club and had an option on thirty sacks more from San Pablo, together with a large supply of beans, and it was decided to confine the present attention to those two staples.

Fish Commissioner Ogborn reported that a large launch and four fishermen had been engaged to work for the municipality at day's pay to start with; that they would have their first catch on sale in the markets Thursday morning next. It is figured that with an average catch of 300 pounds per day for three days a week the average cost will be approximately 5 cents per pound, so that it is anticipated that good fish can be supplied to local consumers at about one-half the present prevailing prices. Some delay in this department has been caused by having to arrange certain details with the State Fish Commission.

Market Director Newsum has secured a good building at 312 Macdonald avenue, and Market Director Trautvetter has one at 167 Washington avenue, both of which will be open for business Thursday morning.

Chairman Wernse reported that he had personally visited a number of farmers throughout the country for a radius of fifty miles or more and arranged with quite a number to ship their vegetables, berries, fruit and other products to the municipal market upon a commission basis.

The commission took an early adjournment to the city hall, where it reported to the council as above outlined.

Secretary W. F. Bailey, representing State Market Commissioner Weinstein and H. B. Nidever of the State Fish Commission, were present at the council and advised with the commission and the council relative to the fishing laws. They stated they would be glad to be of any assistance possible.

Interest is increasing daily in the proposition, and when the markets are open business will be good.

WOODMEN'S SMOKER TONIGHT.
A smoker and wrestling match will be the attractions at W. O. W. hall tonight, and every member is asked to be on hand. Perhaps it might interest them to know that there will be a prize. The wrestling match will be between Al Hall, who claims to be the champion welterweight of the coast, and Young Hachenschmidt. They are husky young fellows and a lively bout is anticipated.

SMITH-FERGUSON.
Harold Edward Smith, a Standard employe, was married to Miss Anera Rose Ferguson by Rev. Frank Linder at the First Methodist church last Saturday. Only immediate relatives were present. Clarence Kane and Edith Selby attended the couple. Orvil W. Record and Miss Irene Mullin of Richmond were married in Oakland Saturday. They have many friends here.

Excavating for the new T. & D. theater at Ninth and Macdonald will begin in about two weeks.

UNIVERSITY HONORS TO RICHMOND HIGH GIRL

Miss Claire Johnson, who graduated from the high school with the class of 1916, has been elected manager of the girls' baseball team at the University of California. This makes her a member of one of the most important committees in charge of student affairs at the university—the sports and pastimes committee. The appointment is of special significance in view of the fact that Miss Johnson expects to specialize in playground work. She was very active in all high school affairs and particularly did she star in basketball, her efforts going far to establish basketball here on a firm basis and to popularize it among the girls.

The following schedule of wages for teamsters, adopted by Teamsters' Local 420 of Richmond, has been approved by the Building Trades Council and Central Labor Council:

One-ton truck $3 per day and overtime.
Two-ton truck, $3.
Three-ton truck, $3.25.
Four-ton truck, $3.50.
Five-ton truck, $4.00.
This schedule to take effect on July 1st, 1917.
Dated Feb. 27, 1917.
This schedule has been endorsed by the B. T. C. and C. L. C. 9516

DEATH OF MRS. BLACK.

Mrs. Carrie Black, wife of Carl Black, passed away at the family home Sunday after an illness of several months. She was 34 years of age and a native of California. She leaves, besides her grief-stricken husband, four children. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock this morning from the Barber funeral chapel.

Death came suddenly, Mrs. Black having expired just after serving a meal to her husband.

ELKS LAMBAST ALAMEDA ON SUNDAY

It matters not to our husky Elks how much champions the enemy was or is, they trounce them just the same without the least effort. Newkirk may be a classy pitcher and all that, but it made no difference to our boys, they took to his delivery and scattered it to the four winds to the tune of 17 hits and 8 runs, while Alameda was held down to five hits and no runs by Babe Hollis, who pitched big league ball.

CORONER'S JURY BLAMES LOTTMAN

The coroner's jury in the case of the Oakland policeman who was run down and killed by F. H. Lottman, the Stege brewer, held him culpable. Lottman's preliminary on a charge of murder began yesterday, but was continued to Wednesday at the request of the defense.

THE BRIGHT SPOT IN JIM LONG'S RECORD

If Councilman James Long, candidate to succeed himself never did anything during his term of office than the one thing this article will allege to, he would still be entitled to the vote of every fair-minded man and woman in Richmond, regardless of politics, personalities, or anything else.

To Jim Long is due the credit for making $3 the minimum wage that may be paid to any employee of the city of Richmond.

Of course, Long could not have put this ordinance on the municipal statute book all by himself. It had to have a majority of the votes of his colleagues. But it was Long who first suggested the measure. He is the one who stood sponsor for the ordinance, and the fact that the measure passed the ordinance vote of the council is a testimonial to the justice of the ordinance and to Long as well.

Long took the position that $3 a day was little enough for anybody to try to live and support a family on, no matter how lowly in the scale of human endeavor his work may be. For this one act he should be accorded a vote that will be at once an earnest of the appreciation in which he is held as a citizen and as a member of the law-making body of the municipality.

And in this respect it may be added that at the very spirited meeting of the council last night, when the letting of an important street improvement contract was being debated upon a technicality, as to whether the Ransome Company of Oakland, or George W. Cushing of Richmond was lowest (the bids being almost identical), it was Long who arose and made the point that upon all such occasions he desired to go on record as being in favor of giving the work to a local man, who would employ local labor. The contract went to Cushing.

MUST STAY CLOSED.

The Panama-Pacific road house must remain closed for a year. Mrs. Mary Smith, the owner of the building, sought to have vacated the order for the lid on the place, claiming that she did not know that the house was being used for immoral purposes. Judge McKenzie refused to vacate the judgment. Alvin Gerlack was attorney for the plaintiffs. Mrs. Smith will have to pay $75 court costs.

H. J. McClatchy, a son of G. R. McClatchy, editor of the Sacramento Bee, is captain of one of the national guard units here.

SENSATION BY JUDGE IN THE MOONEY CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Superior Judge Franklin Griffin exploded a veritable bomb in court today when he declared his belief that Thomas J. Mooney should have a new trial on charge of complicity in the preparedness parade dynamiting. He stated from the bench that District Attorney Fickert should confess error and that if Fickert did not do so, the court itself would do so.

Judge Griffin, who presided at Mooney's trial, declared further that, after reading the letters F. C. Oxman, state witness against Mooney, wrote to F. E. Rigall of Grayville, Ill., he was of opinion that the jury which convicted Mooney should be re-impaneled and called into court, and that Oxman should be forced to make some explanation to the twelve men of these letters.

CITY GETS A BIG OFFER FOR MUNICIPAL WHARF

Proposition to Take it Over as Military Supply Base for U. S. at $19,200 Yearly

C. J. Andrus of Oakland made a proposition to the council last night to secure from the U. S. government a contract to take over the municipal wharf for a military and naval supply base, at an annual rental of $19,200 for a period of not more than three years, he to receive 2 per cent if he closes the deal. The council passed a resolution agreeing to enter into such contract, giving Andrus a reasonable time to complete negotiations.

lowest. There was considerable argument, but Cushing won out, Long and Lane being for Cushing, as he would employ local labor.

P. M. Sanford was awarded the contract for constructing the fire house at Pullman, on his bid of $4220, being the lowest.

As no bids were received for improvement bonds No. 276, the bonds were withheld.

The offer of the S. F. & O. T. Railway to remove its tracks from Standard avenue if given a new right of way was filed.

The estimate of the Richmond Machine and Boiler Works to repair the city steam roller at a cost of $375 was referred to the street committee.

The citizens' committee of fifty appeared before the council last night, armed with resolutions from the Central Labor and Building Trades Council, asking for additional fire protection in the shape of a fire engine and a truck. T. H. DeLap, an spokesman emphasized the need of protection in Pullman, where firehouse No. 4 will be erected, owing to the location of several big manufacturing plants there.

Councilman Long said there should be some efficient apparatus there; a chemical would not do. Hartnatt and Perry and Chief LeMoine also urged the need, and the citizens' committee showed that 25 per cent could be paid on the apparatus on delivery, the balance in long time payments. The matter was referred to the fire committee of the council and the citizens' committee, for discussion at a meeting in Pullman hall Thursday night.

G. W. Cushing was awarded the contract for improving South street, Wall avenue 37th street and 41st street, on his bid of $23,806, being the lowest.

B. Ransome wanted the bids all rejected, claiming that he had the wrong specifications; that otherwise his bid would have been the Communications from the Santa Fe and S. P. were to the effect that excessive whistling of engines going through Richmond would be stopped. A delegation from the Merchants' Association asked that signs be placed near certain fire hydrants so that those unfamiliar with the ordinance might be saved the embarrassment of arrest.

City Treasurer Vaughn filed his report for the quarter ending March last, showing $147,247 cash on hand. An ordinance calling for fire escapes on certain buildings was passed.

Thirty-one days' extension was granted L. L. Page and Walter Johnson, 23 days to G. W. Cushing and J. H. Ribley & Co., and 30 days to J. Ward.

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor to graze animals within the city limits without being staked was passed on first reading. This is designed to stop the pasturing of sheep.

A bond election for $250,000 for playgrounds and a municipal bath house was called for May 14.

At the request of Levi Boswell a resolution asking that flags be raised on all buildings was passed.

Dr. Condon was granted permission to hold a festival and parade May 1st.

ALLIES JUST HUNGRY.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—What the allies want from the United States more than anything else is food.

This vital fact emerged above all others from the trappings of diplomatic courtesy attending the initial reception here today of Foreign Secretary Arthur J. Balfour and the British commission by President Wilson and other American officials.

While the day was apparently given over principally to surface courtesies and diplomatic greetings, the various experts of both England and America plunged at once into the consideration of the vital problems of shipping, munitions, finance, military, and naval affairs confronting the allies since the United States has declared itself in.

BIG BATTLE LAUNCHED.

NEW YORK, April 23.—With a grim lack of ceremony suggestive of war times, the superdreadnaught New Mexico, the world's first electric-driven battleship, was launched at the Brooklyn navy yard today. A small crowd, composed mostly of yard employes, cheered as the giant ship took to the water. Whistles shrieked, but the life and color of peace-time launchings was lacking. Secret service men mingled with spectators and a guard of marines in their service uniforms kept close watch. The public was barred.

Commencing the first Sunday in May, 7 o'clock mass will be celebrated at St. Mark's church every Sunday morning in addition to the regular mass.

Editorial Comment

Long May
It Wave For Freedom

WOULD BE DESIRABLE.

In the interest of national efficiency in the great emergency the nation confronts, Congress will be urged to take action providing for the closing of all saloons in the United States as a war emergency measure, says the Los Angeles Express.

Regarded merely as an incident to national preparedness, such a policy would be absolutely justifiable. In times of public stress, as during great strikes, earthquakes, etc., the municipal authorities of the locality affected, as a measure of ordinary prudence, order the saloons to close their doors. No arguments are presented then in support of the alleged usefulness of the saloon as a social institution. The common consciousness that the saloon affects the reasoning power and destroys the judgment of its steady patrons and that the retail traffic in liquor makes for disorder, asserts itself in every such emergency.

Representative Randall of California declares that it not only is well within the power of the national government to compel all the saloons in the United States to close, but that such a course is now demanded by public considerations. In this he is absolutely right.

A pessimist is one who when a good rain comes always predicts a shortage of harvest hands.

It is difficult to see how any married man could be against Ireland being granted home rule.

"Gittin' on an' off th' water wagon is the only exercise some fellers ever git," says Abe Martin.

It not only might be worse, but the chances are that it is not very bad as it is. Nothing amounts to very much.

And now they are expurgating Mother Goose's melodies. Ah, well, what can be expected? The Bible got it, also.

If you have any particular wheel in your head, send it over to Sacramento and some legislator can be found who is fool enough to incorporate it into a bill and introduce it.

Blue sky laws not only keep out bad securities, but good ones, also. They are much like keeping flies off of cattle with a shotgun—hard on both the flies and the cattle.

Several states which consider their Senates a sort of veriform appendix are screwing up their courage for an operation under the initiative knife.

Gracious, but we do need more laws awful bad. There should be several to compel everybody to blow their nose and sit up straight at the table, and look wise like oxen.

After reading several hundred reasons for the high cost of living and how to overcome it, the San Jose Mercury comes to the conclusion that there is only one way to beat it, and that is to save your money instead of spending it.

One bill our legislators have forgotten is to make it compulsory for wives to leave at least a couple of nickels for carfare in their husband's pants pockets. It is very distressing to board a car and reach for a nickel that is not there.

Compared to the California coal trust and the state wholesalers' food trust, Mr. Rockefeller is a public benefactor and philanthropist, the late Captain Kidd a Christian missionary and J. Pierpont Morgan a gentle financial lamb. The books of the coal combine show that it sold 64,000 tons more coal per year at San Francisco than it possessed.

The lid is on the Barbary Coast in San Francisco and lights are out in the dance halls. Whisky is the incentive to most of that sort of devilry. If you go to these sort of places half-soused they appear Bohemian and more or less interesting. If you go sober, and remain so, it is all simply disgusting. As a rule, however, nobody goes or stays sober.

SYNOPSIS

A modern city boy tells of his strange dreams when, as Big Tooth, he lived in prehistoric times.

When he is a mere baby he is saved from a wild bear by the agility of his mother and his father attacks the savage pig.

Lop Ear was a year older than I, but I was several times angrier than he, and in the end he took to his heels. I chased him across the open and down a runway to the river. But he was better acquainted with the locality and ran along the edge of the water and up another runway. He cut diagonally across the open space and dashed into a wide mouthed cave.

Before I knew it I had plunged after him into the darkness. The next moment I was badly frightened. I had never been in a cave before. I began to whimper and cry out. Lop Ear chattered merrily at me and, springing upon me unawares, tumbled me over. He did not risk a second encounter, however, and took himself off. I was between him and the entrance, and he did not pass me; yet he seemed to have gone away. I listened, but could get no clue as to where he was. This puzzled me, and when I regained the outside I sat down to watch.

He never came out of the entrance, of that I was certain; yet at the end of several minutes he chuckled at my elbow. Again I ran after him, and again he ran into the cave, but this time I stopped at the mouth. I dropped back a short distance and watched. He did not come out, yet, as before, he chuckled at my elbow and was chased by me a third time into the cave.

The performance was repeated several times. Then I followed him into the cave, where I searched vainly for him. I was curious. I could not understand how he eluded me. Always he went into the cave, never did he come out of it, yet always did he arrive there at my elbow and mock me. Thus did our fight transform itself into a game of hide-and-seek.

At intervals, with occasional intervals, we kept it up, and a playful, friendly spirit arose between us. In the end, he did not run away from me,
and we sat together with our arms around each other. A little later he disclosed the mystery of the wide mouthed cave. Holding me by the hand he led me inside. It connected by a narrow crevice with another cave, and it was through this that we regained the open air.

We were now good friends. When the other young ones gathered around to tease he joined with me in attacking them, and so viciously did we behave that before long I was let alone.
Lop Ear made me acquainted with the village. There was little that he could tell me of conditions and customs—he had not the necessary vocabulary, but by observing his actions I learned much and also he showed me places and things.

He took me up the open space between the caves and the river and into the forest beyond, where in a grassy place among the trees we made a meal of stringy rooted carrots. After that we had a good drink at the river and started up the runway to the caves.

It was in the runway that we came upon Red Eye again. The first I knew Lop Ear had shrunk away to one side and was crouching low against the bank. Naturally and involuntarily I imitated him. Then it was that I looked to see the cause of his fear. It was Red Eye, swaggering down the center of the runway and scowling fiercely with his inflamed eyes. I noticed that all the youngsters shrank away from him as we had done, while the grownups regarded him with wary eyes when he drew near and stepped aside to give him the center of the path.

As twilight came on the open space was deserted. The folk were seeking the safety of the caves. Lop Ear led the way to bed. High up the bluff we climbed, higher than all the other caves, to a tiny crevice that could not be seen from the ground. Into this Lop Ear squeezed. I followed with difficulty, so narrow was the entrance, and found myself in a small rock chamber. It was very low—not more than a couple of feet in height and possibly three feet by four in width and length. Here, cuddled together in each other's arms, we slept out the night.

While the more courageous of the youngsters played in and out of the large mouthed caves I early learned that such caves were unoccupied. No one slept in them at night. Only the crevice mouthed caves were used, the narrower the mouth the better. This was from fear of the preying animals that made life a burden to us in those days and nights.

THE SPOTLIGHT

By the OLD MAN.

It is a happy sight to see the little school kiddies of the Washington school, with one of the teachers, out watering the flowers which have been planted along the parking places of the streets adjoining. The kiddies look like a lot of little flowers themselves.

Art Paris has planted the beauty spot immediately in front of the city hall with lettuce, and now if he can get Stiefvater, Pulse, McWhorter and Beckhaus to donate the salad dressing he and Hall, McVittie, Chapman and Marshall can eat.

Chief Lemoine and Contractor Rogers have both been to see if they can get some corn beef seed from the San Pablo corn beef mine. They were referred to Bill Davis, the corn beef editor.

There was a big crowd at the city council meeting last night, mostly from Stage and Pullman, interested in the new fire house and equipment for that section. And they got it.

P. M. Sanford was awarded the contract for building the new fire house, No. 4, near Pullman. He is the contractor just finishing the new knitting mills and Herbert Brown apartment house out 23rd street.

John Nichol again extended the time on the free gift of a site for the proposed new municipal bath house, which matter is soon to come before the voters on a bond issue for the purpose of building it. Mr. Nichol is very kind in this matter, and it is to be hoped that the bath house and playgrounds will both carry, as they are of the highest merit.

There were some fireworks last night at the council meeting when the Ransom Company tried to edge in on a street paving contract, on a technicality. Lane said the council and the people had all they wanted from that old Ransom-Crummey outfit and he for one was in favor of giving them nothing else. Long thought so, too, and wanted all such work done by local men who hired local labor. It was so ordered.

STANDING ROOM ONLY

With Little Carrie Ellsworth in new dances and Mary Pickford in "A Poor Little Rich Girl," at the Turner & Dahnen Richmond theater last night, there was only one thing that could happen. Manager Wilson had to turn 'em away. The theater was packed early and a lot of people had to be disappointed. But the exceptional bill will be repeated tonight and they will have another opportunity of witnessing Richmond's famous child danseuse, and the great film star, Mary Pickford.

But Richmond people should remember that with such a big double bill the only way to be sure of seeing the show will be to get around early.

BENEFIT DANCE AT EAST SHORE PARK

The benefit dance for Mrs. Sarah Corleto, the woman jitney driver who was so painfully injured recently, will be given at East Shore Park on the coming Saturday evening. A. Imbach is in charge of the affair and he proposes to make it a success. It was erroneously stated, in an evening paper that the benefit dance was to be held at Moose hall. The Jolly Four were to have given a dance at Moose hall that night, but postponed it on account of the benefit. The Schwartz orchestra will furnish the music. The injured woman is recovering at her home.

DEATH OF H. A. DOLPHUS.

H. A. Dolphus, a prominent Crockett Odd Fellow, and well known here, being district deputy, died at Crockett Saturday. He will be buried Tuesday in Sunset View cemetery. The deceased leaves a wife.

RETAIL CLERKS' WHIST TONIGHT

The Retail Clerks' Union will conduct a whist party at Union hall tonight, at which the prizes will be sacks of flour and other desirable merchandise. Arrangements have been made to handle a large crowd, and tickets will be but 25 cents. The prizes may be seen in Pulse Bros' show window.

These whist parties of the clerks have become very popular. The proceeds are put into their general fund and made good use of in time of need. If a member dies they get a nice floral piece for his funeral, and in other ways they accomplish much good.

PYTHIAN FUNERAL NOTICE.

Members of Richmond Temple No. 86, Pythian Sisters, are requested to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Carl Black, wife of Brother Carl Black, from the undertaking parlors of A. A. Barber & Co., at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

By order of MAE CUNNINGHAM, M. E. C.

The Richmond Red Cross Society is forging ahead like a U. S. battleship under full steam.

There are now nearly 400 members, and additions to the rolls are made daily. It is expected that there will be fully 500 and probably more by the end of the week. The enthusiasm shown by Mrs. H. D. Chapman, the moving factor in the organization of the branch, has become infectious, and everybody is boosting for it. Nothing ever went with such vim in this city.

Yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, between 30 and 40 members gathered at the headquarters over the First National Bank and occupied themselves in the work of fashioning what surgeons designate as sponges. The are made of gauze and used in surgery to keep the seat of operation and surrounding parts clear of resultant hemorrhage. They are indispensable in operative work.

Mrs. U. S. Abbott, wife of Dr. U. S., has charge of this work. The ladies showed particular aptitude in making the "sponges," and by 4 o'clock they had nine dozen ready. This is particularly gratifying to those in charge.

The work of making this surgical adjunct, together with bandages, packs and compresses, will continue daily.

The work is going on so famously that it has been found necessary to fit up another room and add more tables for those engaged in the work.

When any considerable quantity of the work has accumulated it will be forwarded to national headquarters. The people of Richmond should not forget the campaign the society is making for old newspapers or magazines. Thursday, Friday and Saturday are the days designated for this work, and arrangements have been made to accommodate those who desire to deliver their donations in this respect.

On the east side they may be left at the city's barn, on Seventh street, just off Macdonald avenue. Somebody will be there to receive them. For the west side, the Point, they may be left at the vacant store at about 140 Washington avenue.

GOVERNMENT WINS.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Supreme Court today decided in favor of the government in the noted Oregon and California land case involving millions of acres of land granted to railroads and claimed by the United States by forfeiture.

WIFE GOING STRONG.

Ernest Weise is going to surprise a lot of people with the vote he will get at the primary. Besides being endorsed by the Barbers' Union, he has been endorsed by other unions, and being secretary of the Eagles, he can be counted on to poll a big vote in that section. He has been here many years and has many friends.

W. Delehanty, a jitney driver, neglected to appear before Judge Jacobs yesterday, as per citation, so a bench warrant was issued for him. Cost, $10. That's a lot of nickels. He had been driving without lights.

Fire Chief Tovee of Chico and Chief Otterson of Napa visited Chief Lemoine yesterday and invited him to attend the Butte county spring exposition on Firemen's Day, May 31st.

I. O. O. F. INITIATION.

Odd Fellows' Lodge, 403, initiated two members last night and will give them the first degree next Monday night. A big time is scheduled for Palm Beach, Alameda, on the 28th.

Joseph Smith and Oscar Binder were somewhat injured Sunday when an auto Smith was driving overturned at Sixth and Cutting boulevard, Binder going through the windshield. Dan Davis and Harry Lloyd, who were also in the car, were thrown out, but not hurt. The injured men were rushed to the emergency hospital, where Dr. Abbott attended them. Their hurts are not serious.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gibb returned Sunday evening from a delightful month's motor trip through Southern California. They were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. P. O. Elig of Oakland.

Two men pretending to be drunk started through the Santa Fe tunnel at noon. A guard ordered them out, and when they disregarded his orders he discharged his rifle. They retreated in disorder.

W. W. Cottingham will have to explain to Judge Jacobs today why he ran his auto about town with the muffler open.

LET MAYERS DO IT.

Mayers' American Cleaning and Dyeing establishment at 1116 Macdonald avenue is so well known in Richmond for many years past that it is probably needless to say that it is the leader in this line of business in this city. If you want your old suit to be made to look like new, let Mayers do it. That's his business and he knows how. Incidentally, he doesn't charge but very little. For further information phone Richmond 452.
